

ClearFit

BEN BALDWIN helps employers fill gaps in their workforces.

ClearFit works like a pair of glasses for anyone involved in the hiring process. We bring the best applicants into focus and remove the guesswork. How? Our team of Ph.D.s helped us patent a software tool that predicts employment success by matching companies with prospective employees based on experience and personality traits. The test takes 15 to 20 minutes, and we guarantee the results.

Until now, only Fortune 500 companies had the resources—as much as $50,000 a month—to support this kind of testing. ClearFit lets you try five candidates for free, and our most popular paid plan costs less than $100 a month. It's as easy to use as e-mail. Users pay each time they plan to hire someone, and ClearFit provides them with everything they need to make the hire. When you upload a profile, the software can flag applications that sound false or overhyped. You'll also get a detailed report with personalized interview questions to ask the candidate, as well as a metric that compares their attributes to the best performers in your company.

ClearFit's current iteration launched in 2009, and we've amassed more than 500 employers of all sizes. Hiring the right employee used to depend on trial and error. ClearFit helps you get it right the first time. clearfit.com

Ben Baldwin is the co-founder of ClearFit.